

American Economic Journals Disclosure Statement

Date: 07/24/2018

Author Name: Leemore Dafny

Manuscript Title: Does it Matter if Your Health Insurer is For-Profit? Effects of Ownership on Premiums, Insurance Coverage, and Medical Spending?

Disclosure Statement:

Below are disclosure notifications for the paper referenced above. These answers below respond to the five specific numbered questions contained in the American Economic Association disclosure document posted at https://www.aeaweb.org/aea\_journals/AEA\_Disclosure\_Policy

1. I did not receive any financial support for my work on the paper referenced above. The primary and proprietary source data were provided to me at no charge and with no obligation beyond a right to review the paper to ensure compliance with the Data Use Agreement.
2. I have received consulting fees in the past three years from a number of hospital systems, for work unrelated to the topic of this manuscript.
3. I am a board member of the Health Care Cost Institute, a not-for-profit organization whose mission is to obtain access to health insurance claims data and to make that data available to researchers to explore cost drivers for the U.S. healthcare system.
4. None of my close relatives have received any financial support for my work on the paper referenced above. None of my close relatives have received any financial support in the past three years from a party that would have a financial, ideological, or political stake in the paper referenced above. None of my close relatives is an officer, director, or board member in a profit or non-profit organization that has a relevant relationship to the contents of the article referenced above.
5. The provider of the source data, a large benefits consultancy, had the right to review the paper prior to its circulation solely to confirm compliance with the requirements of the DUA.