

American Economic Journals Disclosure Statement
(Please include one for every author of the paper.)

Date: Wednesday, April 17, 2019

Author Name: Etienne LEHMANN

Manuscript Title: Optimal Income Taxation with Unemployment and Wage Responses:
A Sufficient Statistics Approach

Disclosure Statement:

I benefited from a Fulbright grant and from financial support from Center of Equitable Growth ($10,000) at University of California Berkeley to finance my 8 months visit at UC Berkeley from January to August 2014. My wife benefited received a similar stipend during this visit.

During the time of preparation :

I was a member of the “Conseil des Prélèvements Obligatoires” from september 2014 to July 2018, which publishes publicly available policy reports on tax policy in France.

I was also member of the Conseil d’Analyse Economique, a think tank of academic economists that writes publicly available policy briefs for the French Prime Minister.

I am now member of another policy advising committee on capital tax reforms in France since February 2019, the “comité d'évaluation des réformes sur la fiscalité du capital”.

Paris, France, April 17th, 2019

