

Paper: “Will Studying Economics Make You Rich? A Regression Discontinuity Analysis of the Returns to College Major”

Authors: Zachary Bleemer and Aashish Mehta

Zachary Bleemer declares that he has no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in this paper. He was employed by the University of California in a research capacity throughout the period during which this study was conducted, and acknowledges financial support from the National Academy of Education/Spencer Dissertation Fellowship and UC Berkeley’s Center for Studies in Higher Education. Some presented results were reviewed by request by the University of California Office of the President prior to circulation. This study was granted exemption by UC Berkeley’s Office for Protection of Human Subjects, protocol number 2020-03-13059.

Aashish Mehta declares that he has no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in this paper. Some presented results were reviewed by request by the University of California Office of the President prior to circulation. This study was granted exemption by UC Berkeley’s Office for Protection of Human Subjects, protocol number 2020-03-13059.