

Disclosure Statement for Peter Blair Henry

Manuscript Title: Shocking Offers: Gender, Wage Inequality, and Recessions in Online Labor Markets

The author, Peter Blair Henry, declares that he has no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in this paper. He is a member of the Board of Directors of Analog Devices, Citigroup, Nike, and the National Bureau of Economic Research. None of these organizations have provided financial support to him for his participation in this research. Henry is also the Principal Investigator for the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation funded PhD Excellence Initiative. The Sloan foundation has not provided financial support to him for his participation in this research.