Disclosure Statement

The manuscript “Effective Health Aid: Evidence from Gavi’s Vaccine Program” was written with financial support from College of the Holy Cross faculty award grants. Daniel L. Tortorice discloses part-time work with Data for Decisions LLC, a consultancy, where he has performed research for clients including GSK, Merck, and Pfizer. He has received grants from the Wellcome Trust and Open Philanthropy via IVI (the International Vaccine Institute) for work related to SAVAC (the Strep A Vaccine Global Consortium). These grants did not fund the research contained in the current manuscript.
