

Disclosure Statement

December 31, 2023

This is the disclosure statement for the paper “The Trade-Off Between Flexibility and Robustness in Instrumental Variables Analysis” by Ben Deaner (University College London).

My research is supported by the University College London department of economics. In previous years I was supported by the Cowles Foundation and the Yale department of economics, and prior to that the MIT department of economics. I have no other sources of funding to disclose.
