

Disclosure Statement for From Immediate Acceptance to Deferred Acceptance: Effects on School Admissions and Achievement in England

The British Department for Education, which provides us with the data, has the right to review this paper before we submit it to a journal. The author declares that he has relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in this paper.

Kevin Ren

November 5, 2024