

Disclosure Statements for Co-authors

Andrew B. Bernard was a short-term consultant for the International Trade Department of the World Bank while working on the research described in this paper.

Esther Ann Boler has no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in this paper.

Renzo Massari was a short-term consultant for the International Trade Department of the World Bank while working on the research described in this paper.

Jose-Daniel Reyes, an officer of the World Bank, has no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in this paper.

Daria Taglioni, an officer of the World Bank, has no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in this paper.