

Disclosures, Michael Geruso

No funder or other agency had the opportunity to review this research prior to publication. Potentially relevant professional and financial relationships in the past 3 years:

1. Harvard University: post-doc funded by Robert Wood Johnson Foundation (salary)
2. University of Texas at Austin: Assistant Professor (salary)
3. Harvard University: Consulting on US insurance market regulation and health plan design (consulting fees <$10,000)
4. National Bureau of Economic Research (conference travel reimbursement)
5. UT Population Health Initiative Pilot Grant. PI ($7,500)
6. Pfizer center grant: "Selection Incentives in US Health Plan Design." PI. ($70,000)
7. NIH R03 Grant: "Impacts of Sanitation on Child and Maternal Health" 2014-2016 1R03HD081209-01. PI. ($100,000.)